(LVth YEAR.) THE (No. 2764.)

MARYLAND GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 2, 1800.

STUTGARD, September 29.

THE battle which was expected to take place in Switzerland for the last four months, has at last been fought on the 25th and 26th instant, but the fate of Switzerland seems not to have been decided by it in favour of the Austrians. Field-marshal Suwarrow intended, it is said, to occupy the whole line of Tavetsch, join general Hotze's left wing, and then make a general attack. Massena having received information of this, was before hand with him, by attacking in different points. The attack near Zurich was led by him in person, where he fell upon the allies with superior numbers. This deranged, in some degree, the order of battle of the Austrians, and a division of general Hotze's corps was defeated.—The village of Tavetsch, which general Rosenberg had entered on the 24th, with 6000 men, to join the Austrians, and about 4000 Grison peasants, is situated in the bailiwick of Disentis, in the upper part of the Grison country, near one of the sources of the Rhine, in a very wild part of the country.

Another letter.

We are informed that the battle in Switzerland was at first attended by various successes, but that in the canton of Glarus, on the Linth, and near Zurich, its event was such that the whole position of the Imperial army has been forced back. Colonel Plunket and other officers have been made prisoners of war by general Lecourbe. Where field-marshal Suwarrow was on the day of battle is not known here; at least he had neither arrived at Zurich, nor with general Hotze. The Lake of Constance was entirely covered with magazines which were removing from Switzerland, and the roads leading to Constance, Arbon, and Rorschach, are crowded with fugitives. A part of Hotze's corps has been surrounded. It is hoped that the Imperialists will not retreat farther back than the Thur.

PHILADELPHIA, December 24.

The senate yesterday sent the following letter of condolence to the president of the United States, by a committe of its members, to which the president returned the annexed answer.

To the PRESIDENT of the UNITED STATES.

The senate of the United States respectfully take leave, Sir, to express to you their deep regret for the loss their country sustains in the death of general George Washington.

This event, so distressing to all our fellow-citizens, must be peculiarly heavy to you, who have long been associated with him in deeds of patriotism. Permit us, Sir, to mingle our tears with yours: on this occasion it is manly to weep. To lose such a man at such a crisis is no common calamity to the world: our country mourns her father. The Almighty Disposer of human events has taken from us our greatest benefactor and ornament. It becomes us to submit with reverence to him, who "maketh darkness his pavilion."

With patriotic pride we review the life of our Washington, and compare him with those of other countries who have been pre-eminent in fame. Ancient and modern names are diminished before him. Greatness and guilt have too often been allied; but his fame is whiter than it is brilliant. The destroyers of nations stood abashed at the majesty of his virtue. It reproved the intemperance of their ambition and darkened the splendour of victory. The scene is closed, and we are no longer anxious least misfortune should sully his glory; he has travelled on to the end of his journey and carried with him an increasing weight of honour; he has deposited it safely, where misfortune cannot tarnish it, where malice cannot blast it. Favoured of Heaven, he departed without exhibiting the weakness of humanity: magnanimous in death, the darkness of the grave could not obscure his brightness.

Such was the man whom we deplore, thanks to God, his glory is consummated; Washington yet lives on earth in his spotless example—his spirit is in Heaven.

Let his countrymen consecrate the memory of the heroic general, the patriotic statesman, and the virtuous sage: let them teach their children never to forget that the fruits of his labours, and his example are their inheritance.

PRESIDENT'S ANSWER.

Gentlemen of the senate,

I receive with the most respectful and affectionate sentiments, in this impressive address, the obliging expressions of your regret, for the loss our country has sustained, in the death of her most esteemed, beloved and admired citizen.

In the multitude of my thoughts and recollections on this melancholy event, you will permit me only to say, that I have seen him in the days of adversity, in some of the scenes of his deepest distress and most trying perplexities; I have also attended him in his highest elevation and most prosperous felicity; with unshaken admiration of his wisdom, moderation and constancy.

Among all our original associates, in that memorable league of the continent in 1774, which first expressed the sovereign will of a free nation in America, he was the only one remaining in the general government. Although, with a constitution more enfeebled than his, at an age when he thought it necessary to prepare for retirement I feel myself alone, bereaved of my last brother; yet I derive a strong consolation from the unanimous disposition, which appears in all ages and classes, to mingle their sorrows with mine, on this common calamity to the world.

The life of our WASHINGTON cannot suffer by a comparison with those of other countries, who have been most celebrated and exalted by fame. The attributes and decorations of royalty, could have only served to eclipse the majesty of those virtues, which made him, from being a modest citizen, a more resplendant luminary. Misfortune, had he lived, could hereafter have sullied his glory only with those superficial minds, who, believing that characters and actions are marked by success alone, rarely deserve to enjoy it. Malice could never blast his honour, and envy made him a singular exception to her universal rule—For himself he had lived enough, to life and to glory. For his fellow-citizens, if their prayers could have been answered, he would have been immortal. For me, his departure is at a most unfortunate moment. Trusting, however, in the wise and righteous dominion of Providence over the passions of men, and the results of their councils and actions, as well as over their lives, nothing remains for me, but HUMBLE RESIGNATION.

His example is now complete, and it will teach wisdom and virtue to magistrates, citizens and men, not only in the present age, but in future generations, as long as our history shall be read. If a Trajan found a Pliny, a Marcus Aurelius can never want Biographers, Eulogists or Historians.

JOHN ADAMS.

United States,
December 23d, 1799.

Yesterday in the house of representatives, Mr. Marshall made a report in part from the joint committee appointed to consider a suitable mode of commemorating the death of general Washington.

He reported the following resolutions:

Resolved by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, That a marble monument be erected by the United States at the capitol of the city of Washington, and that the family of general Washington be requested to permit his body to be deposited under it, and that the monument be so designed as to commemorate the great events of his military and political life.

And be it further resolved, That there be a funeral procession from congress hall to the German Lutheran church, in memory of general GEORGE WASHINGTON, on Thursday, the 26th inst. and that an oration be prepared at the request of congress to be delivered before both houses that day; and that the president of the senate, and speaker of the house of representatives, be desired to request one of the members of congress to prepare and deliver the same.

And be it further resolved, That it be recommended to the people of the United States, to wear crape on their left arm as mourning, for thirty days.

And be it further resolved, That the president of the United States be requested to direct a copy of these resolutions to be transmitted to Mrs. Washington, assuring her of the profound respect congress will ever bear to her person and character, of their condolence on the late affecting dispensation of Providence, and entreating her assent to the interment of the remains of general Washington in the manner expressed in the first resolution.

And be it further resolved, That the president of the United States be requested to issue his proclamation, notifying to the people throughout the United States the recommendation contained in the third resolution.

These resolutions passed both houses unanimously.

THE THEATRE

Last evening joined in the public testimony of regret for the loss of America's hero. The house, which was "full to overflowing," displayed a scene calculated to impress the mind with the utmost solemnity and sorrow. The pillars supporting the boxes were encircled with black crape, the chandeliers were decorated with the insignia of woe, and the audience, particularly the female part, appeared covered with the badges of mourning. About 7 o'clock, the band struck up "Washington's March," after which, a solemn dirge was played, when the curtain slowly rising discovered a tomb in the centre of the stage in the Grecian stile of architecture, supported by trusses. In the centre of it was a portrait of the General, encircled by a wreath of oaken leaves; under the portrait a sword, shield and helmet, and the colours of the United States. The top was in the form of a pyramid, in the front of which appeared the American Eagle, weeping tears of blood for the loss of her General and holding in her beak a scroll, on which was inscribed "A NATIONS TEARS."

The sides of the stage were decorated with black banners, containing the names of the several states of the Union, in golden letters, over which mourning trophies were suspended. A Monody was recited by Mr. Wignell, accompanied with the following airs. The tragedy of the Roman Father, which concluded the performances of the evening, gave general satisfaction.

AIRS IN THE MONODY.

AIR I.

SLOWLY strike the solemn bell,
Nature sound thy deepest knell.
Power of music! touch the heart,
Nature there will do her part.
God of melancholy, come!
Pensive o'er the hero's tomb.
In saddest strains, his loss deplore,
With piercing cries rend every shore,
For WASHINGTON is now no more.

AIR II.

GLORY, bring thy fairest wreath,
Place it on thy hero's urn;
Mercy, in soft accents breathe
"He never made this bosom mourn."
Ev'ry virtue here attend,
Bending o'er his sacred earth;
Gratitude thy influence lend,
Make us feel his mighty wroth.

AIR III.

Hold not back the sacred tear,
Give to him the sigh sincere
Who living, lived for all.
Sorrow take the solemn hour!
Prostrate to thy melting power,
Let humble mortals fall.
Come sable goddess, take the soul
Devoted to thy dark control;
Come take our hearts and press them deep,
Angels may joy, but man must weep.

December 25.

On the morning of the 19th October, (says a New-York paper) a post-office express was received in London, from the duke of York, the contents of which had not been made public at the date of our latest papers. It was reported, however, that another engagement had taken place in Holland in which the French were defeated with great loss.

NAPPER TANDY,

And his associates, were said in the London Herald of the 18th, to be hourly expected at the Nore. They were put on board the Zenophon, British frigate, the 1st of that month, but owing to contrary winds, the vessel did not leave Hamburg till the 12th.

[OFFICIAL.]

Extract of a letter from captain Murray of the frigate Insurgent, dated the 14th November 1799, off Diseada.

"On the 12th I fell in with the Adams, in sight of Diseada, and hearing that two French frigates were expected at Guadaloupe every day, we determined to cruise together for some days. This day at 5, A. M. discovered two sail to windward, to which we gave chase; the Adams after the one to windward, and the Insurgent after the other, which we soon overhaled. She proved to be an English brig of 14 guns captured yesterday by a French privateer, the one which the Adams is now pursuing, and which she is gaining on fast. The brig had 21 Frenchmen on board, and 5 of her former crew, including two gentlemen passengers, very badly wounded, I dispatch her instantly for Martinico, on account of the wounded, and before I can inform you of the result of the chase by the Adams."

December 27.

Yesterday was observed in this city as a day of mourning for the loss of the father of our country. Business was suspended, the citizens appeared in the habiliments of grief—and the tones of the deep muffled bells ascended on high—while Philadelphia paid a merited tribute of respect to our beloved WASHINGTON, by pompous funeral honours—and genuine grief.

At the dawn of day, fifteen guns were fired in quick succession, and one gun at each half hour till sunset. At noon the bier was received by the troops formed in line, presenting their arms, and the officers, drums and colours saluting, after which the procession formed and moved to the German Lutheran Church in the following order—Minute guns firing at a distance.

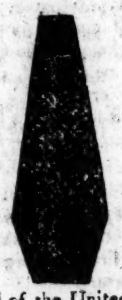
Trumpeter,
Playing a dead march.
A detachment of captains Wharton and M'Kean's troops—
Standards of the troops in the centre, covered with black crape.
General Macpherson
AND
His aid-de-camp.
Militia legion of Pennsylvania,
Marching by platoons in inverted order, with arms reversed—standards covered with black crape.
M'Pherson's Blues,
Marching by platoons in inverted order, with arms reversed—standards covered with black crape.
Captain Singer's troop.
Swords drawn—marching in open file, in inverted order, standard and music in mourning.
Capt. Leiper's Troop,
Swords drawn—marching in open file, in inverted order, standard and music in mourning.
Capt. Morrel's Troop,
Swords drawn—marching in open file, in inverted order, standard and music in mourning.
Capt. Dunlap's troop,
Swords drawn—marching in open file, in inverted order, standard and music in mourning.
County Troop,
Swords drawn—marching in open file, in inverted order, standard and music in mourning.
Militia officers,
Officers of the navy.
Thirty-three clergymen——with white scarfs.
A white horse covered with black crape, with saddle, holsters and pistols—white and black plumes on his head.

Major Jackson — Major Toussard



Major Hopkins — Major Moylan

Benj. Stoddard — Jas. M'Henry

Marshal of the United States,
In deep mourning with a white wand encircled with black crape.
Serjeant at arms of the senate of the United States,
With a white wand encircled with black crape.
President and secretary of the senate, and members of the senate, two and two,
With white scarfs, tied in a bow on the left shoulder—in the centre of the bow, a rose of black ribbon.
Serjeant at arms of the house of representatives,
With a white wand encircled with black crape.
Speaker and clerk of the house of representatives, and members of the house of representatives, two and two.
With white scarfs, tied in a bow on the left shoulder—in the centre of the bow, a rose of black ribbon.
Heads of departments.
Judiciary of the United States.
American commissioners under the 6th article of the British treaty, with their agent.
American commissioners under the treaty with Spain
Post-master-general and comptroller of treasury.
Auditor and treasurer.
Register and commissioner of revenue.
Purveyor and commissary of military stores.
Deputy post-master-general and accountants of war and navy.
Collector, naval officer and Surveyor of the port of Philadelphia, Society of Cincinnati.
Masons.
Officers of the army, navy and militia, not on duty.
Mayor and recorder of the city.
Aldermen.
Members of the select and common councils.
Citizens.

On the arrival of the front platoon at the church, the procession halted. The troops in front of the bier formed in line; and opening their ranks, made an avenue, through which the bier and remainder of the procession passed—the troops leaning on their arms reversed.

As the procession entered the church, the solemn peals of the deep toned organ impressed the mind with the utmost solemnity, and well prepared it for the mournful occasion; and, when the orator of the day painted in glowing colours the illustrious deeds and virtues of the deceased, the public grief burst into unrestrained lamentation.

When he had ceased to speak, the mournful sounds of the organ again "softened the soul to all the tenderness of woe," while the following lines were chaunted by the Thespian choir.

Miss Huntly.

1st.—Serious air and chorus:

Columbia's sons may now lament,
Their spear is broke, their bow unbent,
Their glory fled;
Amongst the dead great Washington lies,
For ever closed his eyes.

Glorious hero! may thy grave
Peace and honour ever have;
After all thy pains and woes,
Rest eternal, sweet repose:
Bring the laurels, bring the bays,
Strew his hearse, and strew the ways.

DA CAPO.

Mr. Darley.

His glorious deeds inspired my tongue,
Whilst airs of joy from thence did flow,
To sorrows now I tune my song
And set my harp to notes of woe.

Miss Broadhurst.

1st.

Sad, sad are the tidings rumour tells,
A grateful people mourn his end;
Amidst the brave and just he dwells,
His country's father and its friend.

2d.

With honour crowned, mature in age,
He fell the wonder of mankind;
Laden with laurels left the stage,
Nor leaves alas his like behind.

3d.

Seated in bliss supreme on high,
O! Spirit dear attend our prayer,
Our guardian angel still be nigh,
Make thy lov'd land thy Heav'nly care.

Mrs. Oldmixon.

4th.

Angels ever bright and fair,
Take, Oh take him to your care;
Speed to your own courts his flight,
Clad in robes of virgin white,
Angels ever bright and fair,
Take, Oh take him to your care.

Mr. Carr.

5th.

Lord remember thy people,
Make us to know thy ways;
O guide our tongues with meekness,
Daily to sing thy praise.

Mrs. Warrell.

Pious orgies, pious airs,
Decent sorrows decent prayers,
Will to the Lord ascend;
And move his pity,
And regain his love.

CHORUS.

His body is buried in peace,
But his name liveth evermore.

When the chaunting had ceased, the bier was borne to its destined spot amidst solemn martial music and the repeated vollies of musquetry. After which the troops forming again in line, returned to their respective parades in proper order.

By the President
OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS the congress of the United States "in honour of the memory of general George Washington," have this day "Resolved, that it be recommended to the people of the United States, to wear crape on the left arm, as mourning, for thirty days:" and "That the president of the United States be requested to issue a proclamation, notifying to the people throughout the United States, the said recommendation:"

Now therefore, I John Adams, president of the United States, do hereby proclaim the same accordingly.

Given under my hand and the seal of the United States, at Philadelphia, the twenty-fourth day of December, in the year of our Lord, one (L. S.) thousand seven hundred and ninety nine, and of the independence of the United States the twenty-fourth.

JOHN ADAMS.

By the president,

TIMOTHY PICKERING.
Secretary of state.

Annapolis, January 2.

On the death of
GENERAL GEORGE WASHINGTON.

COLUMBIANS mourn, the brightest star is gone,
That e'er on earth in brilliant rays hath shone,
By Heaven sent to break oppression's band,
And spread sweet freedom o'er Columbia's land;
To free mankind, and set them all at rest,
And plant his virtues in each mortal's breast.
His example taught us that patriotic pride,
When freedom is the aim, let virtue be the guide;
The poor, the sick, the blind, the lame,
Could rouse his pity, and his friendship claim;
No afflicted son, borne down with grief,
E'er sought his presence, but soon found relief;
In short, the world can not his equal shew,
And Heav'n alone doth all his merits know.
Hard is our fate that he should yield to death,
That manly frame, that pure unsullied breath.
Go then, thou hero, to the realms above,
Go and enjoy thy Maker's purest love;
Go where thy deeds a just return will meet,
Go and receive that bright, that glorious seat
Prepar'd by Angels for that Washington,
Columbia's father, and Heav'ns adopted son;
Go where, at thy approach, the Angels rise,
And lively shouts of joy echo thro' the skies;
Go, use thy influence with thy parent, God,
To save thy country from oppression's rod;
To inspire mankind with merits like thine own,
A love for freedom, and to virtue prone.

LINES on the late Mrs. S. BEANES.

WITH kindred dust commix'd Susanna lies,
Wafted by Angels to its native skies,
Her soul celestial, from the realms of light,
Looks down benignant on this world of night:
Sighs for her friends on this terrestial ball,
And hopes her bliss may be the lot of all.
If gentlest manners and a temper mild,
If sense mature, the innocence of a child,
If charity with Heav'n-born pity join'd,
If sweet religious cheerfulness of mind,
If modest wit, if sentiments refin'd,
If pious hope, if resignation meek,
If each perfection that the good can seek,
Be virtues that can merit Heav'nly love,
Well may we say Susanna's blest above.

By his Excellency
BENJAMIN OGLE, Esquire,
Governor of Maryland,

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS the Legislature of this State penetrated with regret for the death of the illustrious patriot general George Washington, and zealous to express their high respect and veneration for his eminent virtues and distinguished services to his country, have, by a resolution unanimously assented to on the 17th instant, requested me "to appoint, by proclamation, a day of mourning, humiliation and prayer, throughout this state, and to recommend it to the citizens thereof to assemble in their respective places of worship, to testify, in the most public manner, their veneration for his memory, and to derive, from the just eulogiums of his meritorious services, the best motives for the imitation of his virtues."

And, whereas I entirely accord with the honourable legislature in the measure proposed, and am anxious to co-operate with them in paying this tribute of grateful respect to the merits and long tried patriotism of our deceased fellow-citizen, I have therefore thought proper to recommend and advise, and do hereby recommend and advise accordingly, that the eleventh day of February next be observed throughout this state as a day of mourning, humiliation and prayer for the deceased—that the citizens on that day go into mourning, and abstaining, as far as may be, from their secular occupation, devote the time to the sacred duties of religion—that they call to mind the virtues, public services, and unshaken patriotism of the deceased, and admiring endeavour to emulate them—that they implore the Most High God to supply his loss, by inspiring them with a love of true liberty and pure religion, and by dispensing the blessings of peace and knowledge throughout the land—and that he would grant to the people of this and the United States, that the wisdom and virtues of a Washington may never cease to influence and direct our public councils.

Given in the council chamber, at the city of Annapolis, under the seal of the State of Maryland, this eighteenth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety-nine.

BEN. OGLE.

By the Governor,

To the citizens of St Mary's, Charles, and Calvert counties.

Gentlemen,

THE next election of electors of the president and vice-president of the United States, two of the most elevated and responsible offices under the general government being not far distant; feeling a solicitude for the issue, and a continuance of those blessings every class of the community have felt under our present happy constitution, and the wise and virtuous administration under it; being persuaded the political sentiments of the citizens of the first district of Maryland are in unison with my own on this interesting business, I have thought proper to offer myself a candidate for the next election of electors, to represent you in the election of president and vice-president; should I have the honour of meeting your approbation, I shall use my best endeavours to discharge the important trust with honesty and integrity.

I am, with high respect,
Gentlemen,
Your most obedient servant,
EDMUND PLOWDEN.

December 9, 1799.

COMMITTED to my custody as a runaway, on 3d December, a negro man named SAUL, about 23 or 25 years old, 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high, yellowish complexion, his cloathing a blue over jacket, striped under jacket, and gray coating overalls; says he was bought from major SAMUEL CHAPMAN, of Charles county, by Messrs. WELLBORN and BLAKE, of North-Carolina. His owners are desired to pay charges and take him away, or he will be sold agreeably to law for prison fees, &c.

THOMAS A. DYSON, Sheriff of Charles county.

December 5, 1799.

For SALE,

A TRACT of LAND, called BEALL'S PLANTATION, and BATEMAN'S FIELD (being part of Snowden's Reputation Supported), containing by survey five hundred and seventy-six and an half acres, two hundred and thirty-nine of which are wood land, heavily timbered with chesnut and white oak; the remainder is cleared land, and has lain idle a number of years. The entire is well watered by springs, and a large stream that runs nearly through the centre of it.

This plantation is well adapted for corn, wheat, and particularly tobacco; is a most pleasing and desirable situation, and capable of great improvement, at a small expence. It is situated on the Head of South river, Anne-Arundel county, about three miles from navigable water, twelve from the city of Annapolis, twenty-five from Baltimore city, twenty-four from George-town, and about seven miles from the inspection houses of Indian Landing and Queen-Anne.

The terms will be made known by application to WILLIAM HARWOOD, Esq; Annapolis, or to the subscriber.

SAMUEL BRANDRAM,
at Dr. Wm. P. Mathews,
Baltimore.

October 23, 1799.

COMMITTED to my custody as a runaway, on the 26th of August, a negro man by the name of ROBERT LOVELESS, about 28 or 30 years old, five feet nine inches high, flat nose, middling hollow eyes, a small scar on his right hand, apparently by a burn, another on his left leg, several marks on his back, a remarkable scar on the right side of his upper lip, and a small one on his forehead; his cloathing was a blue cloth coat, with a single row of yellow metal buttons, a blue kersey waistcoat, striped cotton trousers, spotted cotton hose, Irish linen shirt, good coarse shoes, and an old felt hat. When committed he said he was free, and was from Louisa county, Virginia, had a forged pass signed THOMAS CROWDY; he since says he is lately from the service of a certain PARK STREET, about seven miles from Hanover Court-house, Virginia, but does not acknowledge himself a slave. His owner (if any) is desired to release him within two months from the above date, or he will be sold agreeable to law for prison fees, &c.

NOTLEY MADDOX, Sheriff of Prince-George's county.

Such prizes as are not demanded within six months after the drawing is finished, of which public notice shall be given, will be considered as relinquished for the use of the corporation.

The subscribers being appointed commissioners to carry into effect the above scheme of a lottery, do hereby give notice, That they have given security and taken the oath prescribed by law, for the faithful performance of their trust, and are now ready to dispose of tickets at their respective places of residence, and hope from the great utility of pure and wholesome water for preserving the health of the city, that the public will encourage the scheme, so as to enable them to complete the drawing much earlier than the time allowed by law.

JOSEPH BIAYS,
CHRISTOPHER JOHNSON,
WILLIAM CLEMM,
} Commissioners.

The commissioners have the pleasure to say the lottery will commence drawing next month.

DR. HAMILTON's celebrated

WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

The aſtoniſhing ſucceſs which has conſtantly attended the adminiſtration of this medicine, emboldens the proprietor to offer a return of the purchaſe money whenever the deſired effects are not produced. Indeed a ſingle inſtance of their failure has not come to his knowledge, where the printed directions have been followed.

A tenth part of the evidence already detailed to the public, is ſufficient to convince even the moſt prejudiced, that this medicine is ſo certain in its operation, and ſo ſalutary in its effects, as to claim the higheſt degree of confidence from the afflicted, or thoſe otherwiſe intereſted in the cure or prevention of all diſorders of the ſtomach and bowels, eſpecially thoſe reſulting from worms.

The proprietor offers to the inſpection of every applicant, a liſt of cures with the particulars, longer he is perſuaded than any one will be at the trouble of reading.

AFFIDAVIT OF RECENT CURES.

MICHAEL DUFFEY, reſiding at No. 47, Wilke's ſtreet, Fell's-Point, in the city of Baltimore, voluntarily maketh oath, that the following ſtatement is juſt and true.

In the beginning of May laſt, my three children, a boy of ſeven, and two girls, the one five and the other three years of age, were taken very ill, nearly at the ſame time, of a common fever, as I then ſuppoſed; but was ſoon convinced the diſorder was cauſed by worms—they were frequently troubled with convulſion fits, and violent ſtartings in their ſleep, and with almoſt continual vomiting and purging, particularly the youngeſt. I made immediate application to a phyſician of the firſt reputation, and his medicines were adminiſtered with a confidence of ſucceſs which only increaſed our diſappointment. The children grew daily worſe, and I was abſolutely without hopes of their recovery. The youngeſt ſoon appeared almoſt devoid of animation, and ſcarcely an inhabitant of this world. In this diſtreſſing moment, I was told that HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES had performed many cures in caſes equally deſperate—I immediately purchaſed a box, and gave each of them a doſe, which in a few hours produced the moſt deſirable effects; the eldeſt voided a great number of very large worms, and the ſecond, thouſands of ſmall ones, many of them not a quarter of an inch long—in the youngeſt they ſeemed to be conſumed, and had the appearance of ſkins and of ſlimy matter. I repeated the doſe agreeable to the paper of direction, and they all ſpeedily recovered a good ſtate of health, which they ſtill enjoy, though five months have nearly elapſed ſince they were on the borders of the grave, and the death of the whole appeared to be inevitable.

Sworn before me this 26th day of Sept. 1799.

GERMAN CORN PLASTER.

An infallible remedy for corns, ſpeedily removing them root and branch, without giving pain.

CHURCH'S GENUINE COUGH DROPS,

A ſovereign, ſpeedy and effectual remedy in

Head-aches,	Sore throats,
Catarrhs,	Wheezings,
Shortneſs of breath,	Congealed phlegm,
Ticklings in the throat,	Spitting of blood,
Tightneſs of the cheſt,	Soreneſs of the breaſt and
Hooping cough,	ſtomach, &c. &c.

Aſthmas and conſumptions,

And all diſorders of the breaſts and lungs.

ESSENCE OF MUSTARD,

FOR the cure of rheumatiſm, gout, rheumatic gout, palſy, lumbago, numbneſs, white-ſwellings, chilblains, ſprains, bruiſes, acute and chronic rheumatiſm.

(Prepared in pills, and in a fluid ſtate for external uſe.)

This remedy has performed more cures in the complaints them all the medicines ever before made publick—as eminently contains the medicinal properties of muſtard, concentrated in a ſmall compaſs, and entirely diveſted of the impurities ſo abundant in its crude ſtate—the virtues of other powerful anti-rheumatics are combined with it, and render its efficacy unequalled.

THE PILLS

ſtrengthen the tone of the ſtomach, remove cold or windy complaints, promote the circulation of the blood, and inſenſible perſpiration, and by throwing off the redundant humours of the body in this ſalutary manner, effectually relieve the moſt inveterate rheumatiſms, gout, palſy, dropſy, &c.

The FLUID ESSENCE

from its warm and penetrating nature, excels every other application for ſprains, bruiſes, chilblains, numbneſs, weakneſs of the joints, white-ſwellings, pains of the back, and rheumatic complaints of every deſcription.

A ſingle bottle or box (or both as the caſe may require) will prove a complete remedy in ſlight or recent complaints, and has never been known to fail, when perſiſted in, to effect a permanent cure in any caſe whatever.

SOVEREIGN OINTMENT FOR THE ITCH,

Warranted an infallible and immediate cure at once uſing

Being the moſt ſpeedy, effectual, and pleaſant remedy ever offered to the public, and for the ſatisfaction of the timorous, the proprietor maketh oath, that his ointment doth not contain a ſingle particle of mercury or any other pernicious ingredient in its compoſition, and may be uſed with the moſt perfect ſafety by pregnant women and on infants newly born.

INDIAN VEGETABLE SPECIFIC,

For the cure of

Venerial complaints of every deſcription.

An extenſive trial of near four years has proved this Vegetable Specific to be effectual in expelling the venerial virus, however deeply rooted in the conſtitution, and has reſtored health to many who have been brought to the grave, by the improper adminiſtration of mercury. Within this period upwards of four thouſand patients have experienced its ſalutary effects.

With the medicine is given a deſcription of the ſymptoms which obtain in every ſtage of the diſeaſe, with copious directions for their treatment, ſo as to accompliſh a perfect cure in the ſhorteſt time, and with the leaſt inconvenience poſſible.

Thoſe who wiſh to purchaſe any of the above articles are cautioned againſt the impoſition of inferior medicines, and to inquire for them only of Mr. Gideon White.

Wholeſale purchaſers allowed a liberal profit by addreſſing to Rd. Lee, and Co. Baltimore.
